ASI COOK-OUT TO FEATURE TITAN STUDENT UNION CENTERS GOVERNING BOARD

CSUF students invited to meet their ASI student leaders and learn how to get involved

FULLERTON—Associated Students, Inc. (ASI) at Cal State Fullerton is kicking off the spring semester by hosting a series of monthly barbeque cook-outs. Cal State Fullerton students and other members of the campus community are encouraged to stop by the Quad on Wednesday, Jan. 25 from noon to 1 p.m. to meet their ASI student leadership team, learn how to get involved in the Titan Student Centers Governing Board, while enjoying hot dogs, grilled cheese sandwiches, and beverages.

Titan Student Centers Governing Board Chair, Christian Urcia, notes, “Now is an exciting time to join our board! We will have applications for open positions at the event and encourage students to discuss what they would like to see in their facilities.” Urcia continues, “The students who serve on the TSC Governing Board help to advocate on behalf of their fellow Titans to make beneficial changes to the Titan Student Union and the Student Recreation Center. Some of these changes have included Food court changes, 24 hour operation of the SRC during fall semester finals week, and the TSU Alumni Lounge renovation.”

Additional cook-outs planned for the semester will take place in the Quad from noon to 1 p.m. The dates are as follows: Thursday, Feb. 23, Wednesday, March 21, and Thursday, April 26. For more information about the barbeques or to learn more about ASI, visit asi.fullerton.edu or contact the ASI Executive Offices at (657) 278-3295.
