FULLERTON, Calif. – Titan Recreation, a program of Associated Students, Inc., will celebrate the 5-year anniversary of the opening of the Student Recreation Center (SRC) at California State University, Fullerton on April 9 beginning at 12 noon in front of the main entrance of the SRC. Students, staff and the local community are invited to join the celebration. Light refreshments will be provided to all in attendance.

“It is incredibly exciting to be a part of this milestone event,” said Alison Wittwer, Titan Recreation Director, when asked about the anniversary. “I have been a part of Titan Recreation for almost 12 years, and I am so proud of the growth of this program. Seeing the Student Recreation Center become a reality was a defining moment for our recreation programs. Now we have the opportunity to celebrate another. I can't wait to see what the future holds for Titan Recreation and the Student Recreation Center.”

The SRC opened its doors to students, faculty, staff and community on April 9, 2008. The 95,000-square-foot facility was borne entirely through campus-based student fees, with no state funds used to either build the center or finance ongoing operations. Currently, more than 3,000 campus community members visit the SRC daily to utilize features such as: a three-lane indoor jogging track, three basketball courts, a two-level 15,000-square-foot cardio/strength training area, two racquetball courts, a 38-foot-tall indoor rock-climbing wall, three multipurpose rooms for drop-in fitness classes, a dedicated spin studio, and outdoor swimming pool. The recreation center also has more than 100 pieces of fitness equipment, as well as a big-screen multimedia cardio studio — the first ever on a Cal State campus.
