* Tell us about yourself (tell us about your background, your past experiences, and what makes you a good candidate for the position; include any information that you think appropriate and important for us to know):

I am a second year student majoring in Political Science. I have spent this last semester (spring) interning in Washington D.C. which allowed me to display my passion and interest in politics. I plan on attending law school after my time here in Fullerton, which only encourages me to get more involved on campus. My time here interning at the U.S. House of Representatives, I have learned much about myself and developed skills that will follow me along my entire career and life. I decided I would be interning with my local representative, Lou Correa, and the experience has been extremely impactful. I developed a new sense of confidence within myself, more attention to detail on my work, and ability to socialize with different people. I am a first generation student which has forced me to experience college in an independent way, only solidifying my drive and motivation to finish my career. Everything I have done so far has been with an immense amount of effort and pride, and this position would be no different. I worked a year at my high school as an AVID tutor, encouraging and being a resource for the school that laid the foundation for my academic career. As I was once those students, being a resource for many of them served me a great sense of fulfillment, as I was giving back to my community. I approach my career in law with a similar mindset, hoping to be an outlet for those who are unable to advocate for themselves either due to fear, lack of education, or ignorance. My motivation to perform at the highest level stems off years of sacrifice and hard work that will only be reflected through a commitment to student government here at Fullerton. I wish to be able to demonstrate my utmost pride, which is my own work that I hope will benefit the students here at Fullerton.

* Tell us what you think the purpose of our ASI student government is and why you want to be a part of ASI leadership (tell us why you think ASI does what it does, what you hope to get out of the experience, and what you hope to learn):

I believe the purpose of ASI is to represent the needs and wishes of the students on campus. Although there is a lot of work that goes into student government, one of the most important aspects of it is representing the actual students. CSUF is a diverse university that trails with its own unique challenges. It is important that although we might not fulfill all the request from the students, but listen and acknowledge is crucial. As a student myself, I experience all the great resources our university has to offer while also understanding the areas where we can improve on. With that being said, student government provides opportunities for those like me that can benefit off new and improved services that the university can offer. I hope to be able to understand and uniquely serve the request and concerns of the thousands of students that go to Cal State Fullerton. Although there are many personal things I can benefit from position, I think your role in student government should revolve around the improvement of the University as a whole. My entire life I have had to advocate for myself, fighting for every opportunity I can get. Now I wish to be able to continue developing my advocacy skills but for other people now. I wish to be able to still perform at a high level while being under a lot of pressure as well. I have been a full time student since I have started here in Fullerton, while also having part-time jobs. Moving forward, I want to be able to still work under pressure and learn to manage my time wisely.

This summer I plan on interning at a law firm, aiming to get experience in the legal field. Although not yet confirmed, I have interviewed for a family law firm that will give me a grasp of what to expect as a practicing attorney. I have also applied to the UCI pre-law fellowship program that offers a variety of resources to support underserved communities. When starting in the fall, I plan on rushing for a fraternity as well to create a sense of commitment to the University and better expand my presence on campus. I will also join the Political Science honors society as I have now satisfied the requirements to be able to join. Later on in the fall, UCLA and Stanfords pre-law programs also open up, that will help me reach the necessary resources to get to law school.

Lobby Corps Commission Coordinator Questions--Please prepare answers to the following questions and upload them as a PDF file.

The purpose of the lobbying corps commission is to communicate with students, organizations, and board to identify unique challenges or new proposals that that university can benefit off. The interest of the students should be taken highly and sincerely, which is why this position should be the point of communication to get these requests pushed forward. Not only should the person that holds this position push forward school legislation that would ideally help students, but promote resources across campus that will fill the voids and gaps between the students and board. As a student myself, I feel it is critical to the integrity of any form of student government and board of a University to listen to the students and their requests. With thousands of students actively attending Fullerton, all of them deserve to be advocated for as they are the ones that represent our school. Students pay tuition and are owed that sense of responsibility from their student government to be heard. Any democratic form of government should allow the people to speak on behalf of their wishes, and at a University level, the students must be adequately represented. After spending a semester in D.C, I got to witness the lobbying process at a congressional level first hand. For next year, I plan on using the communication and analytical skills I developed to first identify the problems students are facing, and then analyzing what can realistically be done. Although I do believe even my personal requests or concerns about the school are important, once given this position, the challenges that are being tackled are those that represent those of the students as a whole. I will analyze what the students feel strongly about and use all my previous experience to tackle these as best as I can. I got the opportunity this semester to lobby on behalf of the DC scholars program to our CSU Chancellor, Dr. Garcia, and explain how much this program can benefit off more funding for students and full time positions for directors. This opportunity demonstrated my ability to use my own experience, and testify as to how it could change the lives of other students wishing to also participate in this program. I have since developed a broad professional network in D.C. that have all mentored me uniquely. Some have shown me how to be able to promote ideas that are being pushed forward. I plan on getting involved in campus in ways not limited to just ASI, which can further emphasize my presence on campus. This will allow me to promote to a bigger audience any event that ASI will be holding that can help students. With the addition of technology, promoting events has never been easier. Being able to target a specific audience or the general student body can be done effectively through the use of social media and networking connections I will continue developing at Fullerton.

* Tell us about yourself (tell us about your background, your past experiences, and what makes you a good candidate for the position; include any information that you think appropriate and important for us to know):

As a rising senior at CSUF, I have spent my teenage years and young adulthood advocating for change and civil justice within my communities. My experiences have been detailed through both administrative and policy work, which make me a perfect candidate for this position. I have thrived working alongside members of Congress and City officials to draft strategic plans and coordinate citywide events, that help to aid future generations.

At the age of 16, I founded the nonprofit organization, The Exceptional Day of Play, that provides accessible and inclusive activities to children with special needs. Since its founding, we have had over 1000+ guests in attendance. As President, I am responsible for delivering our mission of providing an inclusive environment for children of all abilities. My responsibilities include, providing visionary leadership to the organization, including setting goals, establishing policies, and making strategic decisions to advance the nonprofit's mission and impact. I also oversee board governance and relations, working closely with the our directors to ensure effective governance, and providing regular updates on organizational performance, and engaging with board members in strategic planning and fundraising efforts. This includes grant writing, donor cultivation, and special events, to secure the financial resources necessary to support the organization's programs and operations. My experience has also made me well acquainted with community engagement and advocacy, through building relationships with key stakeholders, including community members, partner organizations, government agencies, and funders, to raise awareness of the nonprofit's work and advocate for its cause. My work with my nonprofit has allowed me to hone the ability to lead and organize within my community. I exhibit a strong sense of pride in every project that is placed before me, and if given the opportunity, I will do the same within the Lobby Corps Commission.

Aside from my time in the nonprofit sector, I have also had a great deal of internship experience that has been central to citywide strategic planning, and working alongside government officials to secure funding for Youth. In 2019, I was nominated by my City Council to act as a Youth Ambassador for my district to help in accordance with the City of Long Beach's first ever Youth Strategic Plan. This plan was established to allocate a consistent budget of Long Beach City funds towards Youth. As a Youth Ambassador, I helped draft this plan, alongside city officials, and provided youthful insight as to what this plan should include. One of the resources we decided upon was the foundation of Long Beach's first ever Office of Youth Development, which I had the privilege of interning for after its completion. As a Youth Ambassador, I was tasked with hosting focus groups to gain insight from community members, as well as ultimately presenting our proposal to city council, to which it was unanimously approved.

As an intern for the Office of Youth Development, I was responsible for providing essential input and insight regarding the youth of my community, and I was proud to see the office I helped found in action. I helped design and determine the layout for the Office of Youth Development's community building, and assisted with website design on the City of Long Beach's Youth Development office website. I also had the privilege of helping with the first ever city Youth Festival, in which I was responsible for event coordination of the talent, resource fair, and Youth centered presentations. I also led social media marketing, and community outreach and helped organize and design the functionality of the event, as well as provide youthful insight for the city planners. The event ultimately hosted over 2,000 Long Beach youth and residents, and I was so grateful to be an integral part of the process. In my time at the office I also helped to oversee the Office's Youth Grant Program; helping to determine the recipients of awards, based on their effectiveness for the Youth in our city.

In Spring of 2022 I was fortunate enough to participate in CSUF's Cal State DC Scholars Program, in which I interned for my Congressman, Alan Lowenthal. As a Congressional Intern, I was responsible for constituent Services, such as, assisting constituents with issues they may have with federal agencies, and helping direct them to the appropriate resources. I also conducted legislative Research on various legislative issues, bills, and policy topics to help the legislative staff make informed decisions. As well as providing administrative Support. This includes general administrative support to the office, such as answering phones, sorting mail, scheduling meetings, and maintaining office supplies. This position also required daily writing and editing, such as drafting correspondence, memos, and other written materials for the member of Congress and their staff. I attended meetings, Congressional Hearings, and briefings on behalf of the office and provided summaries or reports to the staff. My internship also required me to assist with outreach efforts, such as organizing events, attending community meetings, and engaging with constituents on social media. Interns were also expected to give tours of the U.S Capitol to visiting constituents and guests of the Congressman. This experience was incredibly fulfilling, as I had the opportunity to speak with the Congressman about my interest in policy change and nonprofit work, and gain valuable experience working in the U.S Capitol alongside esteemed officials.

Most recently, I have accepted an Internship position with the Arts Council For Long Beach, which has allowed me to showcase my event planning skills and passion for nonprofit work. I have been working to expand the team's fundraising initiatives and grant approval process, which has required my background of networking skills, and ability to work fast and skillfully. I am grateful to work with such high profile city members and gain insight on the organization's daily efforts to develop and support the Arts community within Long Beach. Due to my extensive history of community service and administrative experience, I possess strong communication, interpersonal, and organizational skills, and I am exceptionally detail oriented. I look forward to contributing to your team by bringing my devout leadership, and my ability to work efficiently and effectively. My versatile skillset should prove to be an essential asset to your endeavor.

* Tell us what you think the purpose of our ASI student government is and why you want to be a part of ASI leadership (tell us why you think ASI does what it does, what you hope to get out of the experience, and what you hope to learn):

ASI provides CSUF students with opportunities for leadership and development through experience and volunteer oriented engagement. But most importantly, it cultivates a community among students at Cal State Fullerton and allows for the creation of inclusion and diversity of voices across the student body. ASI has proven to be a driving force in the nurturing of community growth and improvement to our campus and university as a unit. From the planning and orchestration of campus-wide events, to the protection of student initiatives, ASI allows students to assert themselves at CSUF in a safe and supportive space.

I have witnessed the massive undertakings of ASI, through attending campus events and seeing the many organized outreach initiatives to improve our university and learning experiences, and I have been inspired time and time again by the continued efforts of student leadership. I would be honored to be apart of ASI in any capacity, and I believe the Lobby Corps Commission would be a perfect position for my qualifications.

I am hopeful that by joining ASI, I will further my educational experience through expanding my networking on Campus, and joining a collective team building experience. I have always enjoyed working collaboratively to further a common goal for advocacy, and I know that being apart of ASI presents itself as a prime opportunity to continue those efforts.

For this academic semester, I am currently a member of CSUF's Moot Court Team, and I will be continuing my summer internship for The Arts Council For Long Beach, until September. However, I have always been someone with a great ability to multi-task, and deliver quality work. As you may see from my resume, many of my activities have overlapped over the years, and I have proven to be successful regardless of my busy schedule. I believe that this semester will be no different. My classes are well adjusted to my goals for on campus involvement and outside commitments, and I believe I will be more than capable of handling the workload presented to me.

Lobby Corps Commission Coordinator Questions

1. The Lobby Corps Commission acts as an advocate for students and their interests pertaining to all levels of higher education and public policy issues, as well as the implementation of programs that educate others regarding such issues. The Lobby Corps Commission also ensures engagement for advocacy and the facilitation of campaigns to mobilize support for the CSUF student community.
2. The Lobby Corps Commission ensures student initiatives and interests are rendered and actualized, with intention of action. Without these efforts, students would not be accurately or efficiently represented throughout their educational experience. This makes the Lobby Corps Commission an extremely vital component to ASI, and to the CSUF student body as a whole.
3. As a representative of the Lobby Corps Commission, I will act as an influential member of ASI to progress our initiatives of the Fullerton student body. I will act in support of my cohort and fellow team members to aid in the work that has already begun, and push to expand upon such work, to make way for any new or essential movements on campus. I consider one of the most important issues for the University, is the development of disability inclusivity, and I believe advocating for funding to see continued improvements on our campus remains a collective goal for many students, and myself.
4. With my prior experience in marketing, and community outreach I would utilize the avenues of promotion that have already presented great return; however, I would also expand upon the many resources of engagement that are at our disposal. This includes but is not limited to, exposure within social on-campus clubs, getting trusted professors involved in word-of-mouth messaging, and promoting incentive for groups typically unengaged.
