The Committee will review the ASI Budget Mechanics, Methodology, and Timeline.

Wong yielded the floor to Asha Nettles, Director of Student Government, and Carolyn Ehrlich, ASI Director of Finance, to review the information.

Nettles shared information on the plans and processes for reviewing the ASI Budget.

Nettles provided information on which items will be addressed during the review.

Nettles provided further details on some of the Student Engagement and Services they will be addressing. Additional details were provided on:

- Commissions
- Student Programs and Engagement
- Funded Campus Groups
- Funding Interclub Councils

Nettles shared the total budget amount they will be working with, as well as past spending.

Nettles provided further details on the process they will take to review the ASI Budget.

Wong opened the floor to questions and discussion; Nettles invited Carolyn Ehrlich to assist her with answering student questions.

Diaz asked how contingency funds work with the ICC Budget Processes. Nettles provided details on the contingency budget.

Pugh asked if they could work on updating ASI Policy to address the concerns brought up during public comment. Nettles said the scope of funding this Committee oversees is around events, programs, and travel. Nettles shared this is not an item within the scope of this Committee's Work. Nettles shared the information regarding how this policy could be addressed.

Kelley asked if they would be able to see money received by programs and ICCs via donations. Nettles said this is a question they can ask the programs to answer when they prepare information regarding their program budget for the Committee's review. Ehrlich provided additional details on how they can view funds donated to programs in the instances when that information is available to them.

Fox asked how common it is for councils to hold fundraising efforts. Nettles said the amount of times councils hold fundraisers has decreased recently and does not have the exact numbers for each council.

Pugh asked how funds won through competitions would be viewed, saved, and recorded. Nettles provided information on the ways those funds would be housed prior to being expensed by the program.

Pugh asked if all funds received by ICCs would have to be housed on campus. Nettles shared that the money they receive should be housed on campus unless the funds received are federal funds. Ehrlich shared additional information on the way funds should be housed regarding federal funding.

Ehrlich provided additional information that we were unable to hear for the recording.

Kelley asked if they can make a universal plan for these budget reviews. Kelley thinks building a universal structure for the Finance Committee would be very beneficial. Kelley also stated she would like to reduce the disciplinary actions taken towards programs that submit items late. Ehrlich thinks building a policy to follow would be wonderful. Nettles said that accountability is very important and deadlines should not be taken lightly.

Fox stated that he thinks it's good to announce deadlines early and perform work on the front end to help their ICCs meet deadlines, and would not like to remove them completely. Fox also feels it will be important to inquire about other sources of funding during the application process. Fox also would like to include language to help gather an understanding of how they can help programs be less reliant on ASI Funds. Fox ideally wants ASI funds to be a resource for these programs and not the only thing the programs will rely on.

Fox asked how they would be able to tell how the ICCs use the funds awarded to them. Nettles informed Fox that councils cannot use ASI Funds to host fundraising events. Nettles also informed Fox of other items that we were unable to hear and record.

Nettles shared that any use of funds is documented by her department.

Pugh said programs within ICCs can share funds and feels like it's good so programs will not monopolize funds.

Ehrlich said with times changing and becoming more technologically reliant they would need to address the fair distribution of funds across an individual ICC and shared that they can start with something small.

Nettles encouraged members to connect with their ICCs to understand what they are providing their clubs, organizations, and committees.

Nettles hopes to provide a draft for members to view at their next meeting.
