Rain provides many learning opportunities!

Taking a walk when it is raining or after it has rained, is a great time for your child to use their senses, engage in reciprocal conversations, and expand their vocabulary. Talk to them about what they will need to wear in the rain, what tools they can use, and how to stay dry.

Ask your child about what they see, smell, hear, feel and taste. How do things look outside? How does the rain sound? What smells do they notice? Can they touch the rain drops? What if they open their mouth while it's raining? Can they taste the drops?
