Reading aloud to your child at a young age helps foster language, brain development, early learning, and reading skills. Reading aloud for just 15 minutes a day can make a difference in your child’s development. Click the source link for additional resources and books for infants, toddlers, and young children.

Source: https://www.readaloud.org/