The way we parent helps to nurture the skills children will need throughout their lives. This handout demonstrates the connection between our parenting behavior to the life skills our children are learning.