

Parent Resource

How to Talk to Kids About Anti-Asian Racism

Against the backdrop of the COVID-19 pandemic—the first known cases of which were located in Wuhan, China—the frequency and severity of racist harrasment and physical attacks against Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders (AAPI) in the U.S. have steadily risen in the past year, and even more sharply in recent months. Accounts of anti-AAPI violence have been surfacing all across the country, prompting calls for awareness and justice from anti-racist organizations and advocates for the AAPI community.

Click on image for full article.

Anti-Asian Racism
Is On The Rise
Here's what to say to your kids about it

