* Tell us about yourself (tell us about your background, your past experiences, and what makes you a good candidate for the position; include any information that you think appropriate and important for us to know):

I have a strong background in environmental help. During my years in high school, I was part of a community organization that would raise environmental awareness in our city of El Monte. Some of this included; planting trees throughout elementary schools, promoting the reduction of and managing food waste, improving on water conservation and wastewater management, promoting other alternatives than using a car, and recycling. As I began my college education, I looked at what I wanted to pursue and as a newly declared political science major, I leaned towards environmental law. Throughout my semesters, even though I swayed away from this practice, it is something I am still passionate about. Both of my last jobs as an associate banker and an operations manager have helped me develop and strengthen my interpersonal skills. I was responsible for many things and one of them was to raise awareness of various products and services we offered. I was also praised for always going above and beyond my role, and scoring perfect on customer surveys. I say all of this because when talking to people, I highly believe there needs to be a connection, and this is done through small things like empathy. I will use my skills to the best of my abilities to raise awareness and advocate for our environment.

* Tell us what you think the purpose of our ASI student government is and why you want to be a part of ASI leadership (tell us why you think ASI does what it does, what you hope to get out of the experience, and what you hope to learn):

I think the purpose of ASI is to provide students with additional resources and act as an intervention specialist on our concerns. I see ASI as the same embodiment as I do with our government. I would like to be a part of our student government because I have a strong background in political science, and I want to be a voice for the voiceless. I see and hear what many student's recommend and as an ASI representative, I would like to connect them to their ultimate college experience. There are many things ASI would love to do and I see it when I go to meetings, but there are things that are out of their control. ASI to the best of their abilities is committed to provide programs, services, and develop the student learning experience, and I want to be a part of that committed to my fellow classmates. At the end of this, I would hope to say I made a change and would like to see and learn more about government.

1. The goal of the Sustainability Commission is to improve the quality of life for its students by researching and promoting sustainable techniques that preserve natural resources and safeguard the environment.

2. Promoting environmental sustainability helps students understand why our environment at CSUF is important and this would provide them with the building blocks they'll need to live an eco-friendly lifestyle.

3. I am interested in the coordinator position. As previously stated, I believe that with my passion for the environment, my political science background, and my interpersonal skills, I would be a great addition for ASI.

4. I want to create a culture of sustainability on our campus in which the entire CSUF community is aware of and engages in it - including educating faculty, staff. Also, I would like to sponsor sustainability-related campus events and activities, which includes identifying, promoting, and supporting these programs. I would encourage multidisciplinary collaboration and the incorporation of sustainability concerns into the curriculum. For example, I looked at our campus Environmental Studies Program and I did not see a course on Environmental Law. For someone interested in that legal field/course, I think we could work with the program coordinator, April Bullock, and brainstorm on ideas as well as to bring awareness and engagement. Every Cal State adheres to the "CSU Sustainability Policy" and it comprises eleven sustainability areas as well as specific targets for tracking the system's sustainability development. I think we should look at the data reported and compare it to previous years and see what we can improve on as well.

5. Some of the ways I would like to promote activities and events would be by using social media. It is safe to say most of our classmates are on social media, and I would like to create videos, updates, Q&As, and hold what I like to call, "campus community day". Aside from "Earth Month" on our campus,, my idea would be a once a month day where students and staff would get together to promote environmental sustainability and host activities as well.

* Tell us about yourself (tell us about your background, your past experiences, and what makes you a good candidate for the position; include any information that you think appropriate and important for us to know):

I prefer to go by my middle name, which is what most people know me by: Emeka (Eh-meh-ka). I'm an athletic extrovert who is pursuing a career in media, politics, and law.

I think I'm a good candidate for this ASI position because I'm a kind, transparent person, who tirelessly works to complete a given task while also knowing how to find a balance (even when situations, personal or public try to act as roadblocks).

I've demonstrated this through my studies (which you'll see with my GPA via this form and on my transcript), through club work (the Afro-Ethnic Student Association), and future projects I intend to lean into, which would include this one if I were accepted.

* Tell us what you think the purpose of our ASI student government is and why you want to be a part of ASI leadership (tell us why you think ASI does what it does, what you hope to get out of the experience, and what you hope to learn):

The role of ASI is to create an environment where individuals (students, faculty, or otherwise) can be involved in making a positive impact in their respective communities, whether this be through the execution of events and the outreach thereof, meetings with legislative officials, through skill-development, or another manner.

If I were given the position of CEC Coordinator, it would be my primary objective to get people more informed and involved about the climate crisis and intersecting social justice issues in a way that is simple, informative, and NOT overwhelming.

If given the position, I'd look to learn more about team management, learning more about the climate crisis, understanding more about people's histories, and the structures of student government.

My commitments in the next semester are towards building the strength and involvement of communities in and around CSUF's Black Student Union amidst a series of anti-Black, racist, and bigoted incidents that have happened on-campus and within Orange County.

I intend to allocate my time to the Afro-Ethnic Student Association (AESAs), one of BSU's most active orgs., towards a Coordinator Position at Orange County Justice Initiative — a BIPOC, youth-empowered org., toward private meetings with Pres. Virjee, and toward personal work, such as scholarships, and voter registration initiatives.

1. In your own words, describe the purpose of the Environmental Sustainability Commission?

The Environmental Sustainability Commission serves as a way for students to effectively advocate awareness on the climate crisis while serving as a voice for students' policy interests on the matter.

2. Why is it important to promote environmental sustainability to students at CSUF?

Without informing students about the importance of environmental sustainability (or promoting legislative moves that related to its importance), we, in addition to bearing the negative consequences of the climate crisis, would be acting against principles that are necessary for improvement — both individually and collectively. If we want a more equitable society, (positive) change starts with us, and it's important for students to see that action and positive change in front of them so they are inspired to make a positive change for others in their lives.

3. How you would direct, support, manage, and oversee the Environmental Sustainability Commission team and program?

For starters: I'd popularize the Instagram handle of the Commission (and ASI supported links) on Day 1. Society is wrangling with social media (and its disinformation). Creating a thriving venue with reputable information and engagement would be the first thing I'd prioritize, and informing people of how the climate crisis relates to them and their own personal communities would be in equilibrium with that priority.

4. Describe the ideas or goals you have for next year for the position.

I have big ambitions, and I've expressed as much to President Virjee. California is a leader in the world on issues on climate, and it has so much more it can accomplish. I want to see high profile figures speak here. An Energy Resource Center where people can utilize their CRV. I want Orange County's school, one that projects a pro-climate image, to be known as not only an example in the CSU system, or for the State, but as an example for the world on what can be accomplished through effective collaboration.

5. Describe how you would promote the activities and events of the Environmental Sustainability Commission. ***

Beyond using my personal social media and word-of-mouth, I'd promote ESC's events through other organizations on-campus', and encourage those orgs' leaders to get informed and involved — namely through DIRC and the Colleges of Communications and Environmental Studies.
