Not a Box Writing Prompt

Let's read Not a Box by Antoinette Portis. After you are finished reading the story, have your child create something all their own!

"It's Not a Box... it's a..."

Story prompts are a great way for children to express how they feel. Aside from language and literacy development, story prompts also encourage problem solving, analysis, and give children the opportunity to use their "voice" which helps strengthen their self-confidence.

It is NOT a box.

It is _____
