Department Overview

Dr. Sofie Léon
DIRC Director

ASI Board of Directors
Meeting

February 8, 2021
A brief history of DIRC

What is now known as the Latinx Community Resource Center, the Mexico and Southwest Collection was created by graduate student, Alfredo Zuniga, in 1972.

The African American Resource Center was founded after the establishment of the Ethnic Studies department in Humanities 314 by Ethnic Studies faculty.

Development of the Asian Pacific American Resource Center was long in the works by faculty in Asian American Studies, the center was formally established in 2013.

The LGBT Queer Resource Centers started in ASI in 2012 as a small student space, and in 2016 it was transferred to Student Affairs as a permanent resource center.

On April 23, 2014, CSUF made history by establishing the Titan Dreamers Resource Center, the first of its kind in the CSU.

In 2014, the Diversity Initiatives and Resource Centers was created in the Division of Student Affairs, as an umbrella for the identity/cultural centers on campus.

In 2018, all five resource centers relocated to the first floor of the Pollak Library, where DIRC resides today.
Discovering our values and department identity

• Spring and Summer 2020, the professional and student staff brainstormed:
  – What do we value?
  – What services do we actually offer today?
  – What is DIRC to you?
  – How do you describe DIRC to an outsider?
  – How does our work align with University Strategic Plan, GI 2025, Titans Together Initiative

• Discovered disconnect between how we talk about DIRC and what is written about DIRC
  – Why not close the gap? --> Update Mission and Outcomes
New DIRC Mission

Diversity Initiatives & Resource Centers (DIRC) supports students by building communities that foster a sense of belonging, creating opportunities to engage in self-discovery and critical inquiry, and serving as a hub for resources in inclusive and affirming spaces. 3. To ensure that Programming produces events with the intent to better the virtual or physical campus life.

Current Funding Status – Budget #0406

ASI Programming has been highly effective in creating exciting virtual events without high production and marketing costs. In order to properly allocate enough funds for the whole academic term, Programming allocated a set amount of funds for each semester with the assumption that Spring will have more scheduled events. In Fall, Programming was able to come under budget thanks to the cheaper operating costs of virtual events. The remaining funds were then rolled over to our Spring budget to support our larger programs later in the semester. The final Spring budget will be used to support our 24 diverse virtual programs this semester.

Events

Past Events

ASI’s past virtual events garnered audience numbers beyond our expectations. Programming’s events on YouTube have reached an audience of over 2400 students this past semester alone (this statistic is not including our many events on Instagram). ASI Programming has consolidated all of our YouTube virtual shows to a playlist that we encourage the Board of Directors to share: ASI Programming's YouTube Playlist (http://bit.ly/3pZG0mX)

Because of ASIP’s new ability to live stream high quality shows, our viewership and the professionalism have improved. With events like Titan Talks, we are able to host live Q&As with minimal pre- and post-production needs easing the bandwidth on our team. ASI Programming would also like to lend a helping hand to any other ASI organization that is interested in this capability and how to use it, feel free to contact the directors at any time.
Upcoming Events

Programming has a number of exciting events that we will be bringing to the screens of our Titan Family. Because of Programming’s healthy budget, this semester we are hoping to put together at least two large scale (live streamed) speaker events with personalities alike Winston Duke from our last in-person speaker event. We are also collaborating with the CSUF Housing Association to produce virtual events at homecoming this year like virtual video game tournaments. Street Team will also be kicking off this year with more information linked below. If you are interested in recruiting volunteers or if you would like to promote your upcoming event, any ASI representative is always welcome to join us. If interested, please check out more information about Street Team below. Last but not least, ASI Programming has started the gears for this year’s VIRTUAL Spring Concert. We hope to create an exciting line-up with an exciting virtual viewing experience for our students that stands at from any virtual show produced yet by CSUF. We will release more information about the virtual show as we approach the Spring.

ASI Programming now has a live calendar where y’all can check out our events (linked below). You can also check out information about our events under the Programming tab in the ASI website. Regardless, here are some dates to remember:

Tuesday, February 16 – Street Team Meeting #2 (info to join in link below)
Wednesday, February 17 – Drop the Mic is our newly re-designed spoken word series, and we hope y’all can join us! Marketing will be up on our Instagram shortly.

Tell us what you think the purpose of our ASI student government is and why you want to be a part of ASI leadership (tell us why you think ASI does what it does, what you hope to get out of the experience, and what you hope to learn): *

ASI is a definite step up from ASB in high school. The image of the college is now resting in the hands of student leaders, and what you can do in ASI can change the climate of the school. When I first got to CSUF, ASI was on my radar, but I never knew where to start. I feel like having a year in the campus, and virtually has shown the true nature of CSUF, and I have a better grasp of the school itself. I hope to not only learn more about me, but I also want to continue growing on the leadership skills I have been born with.

1. The purpose of the elections team is connecting with the students throughout the school, and provide good methods in which their voices can be heard. Elections, as we have seen this year, are vital in helping facilitate change.

2. Without promoting participation, students might not vote for people in their school's elections. The more participation, the greater a majority can be heard and change can happen. With lower numbers, the results are not as real as they should've been.

3. I am interested in the elections coordinator position as marketing and publicity is something I enjoy doing. Promoting elections and creating interesting themes to attract students sounds enticing! In my senior year, I was in charge of running elections for the next year's leadership class, so I do have some experience in elections.

4. My main goal if I were to get this position, would be to increase the number of people who vote in the student elections. I want to help create more real results in the elections. I want to also get creative in the theming of the election, and try to make them more enticing!

5. I would focus on social media, trying to promote election information on there. With that being so popular, promotion can be easily spread. As well, emailing the campus would definitely be a necessary next step. As well, a message on the portal and canvas would definitely be another great idea too.
